When we speak about the Holy Spirit, we speak about the breath of God, breathing in us. The Greek word for "spirit" is pneuma, which means "breath." We are seldom aware of our breathing. It is so essential for life that we only think about it when something is wrong with it. The Spirit of God is like our breath. God's Spirit is more intimate to us than we are to ourselves. We might not often be aware of the Holy Spirit, but without the Holy Spirit we cannot live a "spiritual life." It is the Holy Spirit of God who prays in us, who offers us the gifts of love, forgiveness, kindness, goodness, gentleness, peace, and joy. It is the Holy Spirit who offers us the life that death cannot destroy. Let us always pray: "Come, Holy Spirit, come."

- Henri Nouwen

The greatest longing in the church today, stated both directly and indirectly, is the quest for something more than dull religion. People are in need of the intimacy, inspiration, and impelling power of the Holy Spirit. ... It is impossible to live the Christian life without the indwelling Spirit.

- Lloyd Ogilvie

Done with This Earthly Body (1 Corinthians 15:40)

Long-time and beloved member of the FPCSM family, Betty Laughlin, passed away on Monday, May 14. We grieve with Betty's family as we also celebrate with them the hope that we have because of the resurrection of Jesus. Memorial service arrangements in Turlock are still being planned.

Pentecost Sunday

Today we celebrate Pentecost. From the Greek word Πεντηκοστή meaning "the fiftieth day", Pentecost is one of the prominent celebrations in the Christian liturgical year, celebrated on the 49th day (seven weeks) after Easter Sunday – or the 50th day inclusively, hence its name. Historically and symbolically related to the Jewish harvest festival known as the Feast of Weeks (Hebrew: Shavuot) or the day fifty days after the Exodus, when God gave the Ten Commandments at Mount Sinai, Pentecost now also commemorates the descent of the Holy Spirit upon the Apostles and other followers of Jesus as described in the Bible in Acts 2. There we read that the apostles then went out into Jerusalem prophesying and speaking about the wonders of God in languages that all the visitors to Jerusalem could understand, with the result being that on that day 3,000 people embraced the gospel of Jesus Christ. For this reason, Pentecost is sometimes described as "the Church's birthday."
